

Welcome to the Website

Welcome to the brand new COGA.org!

This website has been months in the making and we are excited that you're finally here, checking it out.

When we started thinking about how the new site should look and feel we wanted something user friendly that made it easy to learn about the programs, resources, and mission of COGA. There are a few things we want to highlight for visitors to the new site and hope these helpful hints and suggestions will make your user experience even better.

The new Energy Facts section of the website is now home to all of our original content, resources, and is sorted by series type and category to make it easier for you to find what you're looking for. Need information on rig count or contact information for a state agency? The Helpful Links tab is a robust list of external resources we've compiled.

Our Programs and Events section is the place to go for up to date information on upcoming events, educational programs, workshops, and more! Whether you are looking to network with industry peers or attend a technical brown bag COGA is sure to have an event or program that's perfect for you.

Want to get more involved in COGA? Click on "Be Engaged" to learn about our committees, new content, upcoming events, industry news, or to read the latest blog post from COGA's President and CEO, Dan Haley. This is also the place to find information on policy and legislative committees.

All of our Press and Media information has been streamlined in to this section of the site and is a great go-to for press releases, statements from COGA leadership, or to find the newest episode of "What Turns You On?" The COGA Energy Podcast.

Need a quick way to find new content or industry news once you've navigated away from the homepage? All you need to do is check out the right sidebar to see what's been most recently added or find the top oil and gas headlines for Colorado.

While we hope that you love the new website, it wasn't built by robots and we'd love to hear from you if you have suggestions or need help finding something. Please don't hesitate to send us an email at communications@coga.org!

Thanks for Visiting!
