

COLORADO
OIL & GAS
ASSOCIATION

2017

Community Impact Report

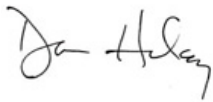

From the President & CEO

Each day I am reminded of just how fortunate I am to live and work in Colorado, and to serve an industry that includes more than 100,000 employees statewide – individuals and families who are invested in their communities and the lives of their friends and neighbors. The oil and gas industry has a long tradition of giving back – after all, our members live and work in these communities too, and we all care deeply about the people, environment and shared experiences that make Colorado exceptional. As an industry, our members also know that social responsibility is a mandate. Recent research suggests that the majority of Americans want businesses to drive social and environmental change, and will support companies whose values align with their own.

COGA's members have demonstrated leadership on issues that Coloradans care about – not just through words, but through action, investing millions each year and volunteering hundreds of thousands of hours. Our first-ever Community Impact Report showcases the consistent commitment of COGA's members and their employees to Colorado, and the profound impact of our work in our own backyard. Our collective and ongoing contributions bring alignment to the values we all share – supporting our communities and protecting the beautiful state that we all call home.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Dan Haley".

Dan Haley
President & CEO
Colorado Oil & Gas Association

From the Community Outreach & Investment Committee

As one of the longest established industries in Colorado, the oil and gas community has deep roots throughout our state dating back nearly 150 years. Many of the communities and institutions we cherish in Colorado have connections to the energy industry, creating partnerships that have endured and strengthen the connection to the place we call home.

Corporate social responsibility is not a new concept, and it has been a pillar of oil and gas operations in Colorado for generations. COGA's Community Outreach and Investment Committee engages all COGA members in coordinated efforts that maximize our collective impact. As a statewide trade association, COGA members reach every corner of Colorado, providing opportunities to foster positive social and environmental outcomes that are tailored to the communities we serve.

This Community Impact Report is a new endeavor this year, and provides a sampling of the range of initiatives and activities that energy industry companies engage in annually to protect the Colorado we love and enhance the lives of our neighbors and communities that we value.

Sincerely,

Chair: Susan Fakharzadeh, PDC Energy

Vice Chair: Patsy Landaveri, Noble Energy

2018 Community Outreach and Investment Committee Co-Chairs

Susan Fakharzadeh

Patsy Landaveri

Community Partners

COGA members supported more than 500 local organizations in 2017. The beneficiaries of our member's support ranged from arts and recreation to supporting veterans, educating youth and helping underserved families. The chart on the opposite page represents both monetary and volunteer support of Colorado's community-based organizations.

500+

COGA and its members served more than 500 organizations in Colorado

Including...

*Alzheimer's Association
American Cancer Society
American Red Cross
American Heart Association
Boy Scouts of America
Boys & Girls Clubs
Children's Hospital Colorado
Colorado Therapy Horses
Denver Center for the Performing Arts
Denver Dumb Friends League
Denver Museum of Nature & Science
Denver Public Schools Foundation
Denver Rescue Mission
Food Bank of the Rockies
Girls Incorporated
Goodwill Industries
Greeley Stampede
Habitat for Humanity
Junior Achievement
Keystone Science School
Metro Caring
Mi Casa Resource Center
Mile High United Way
National MS Society*

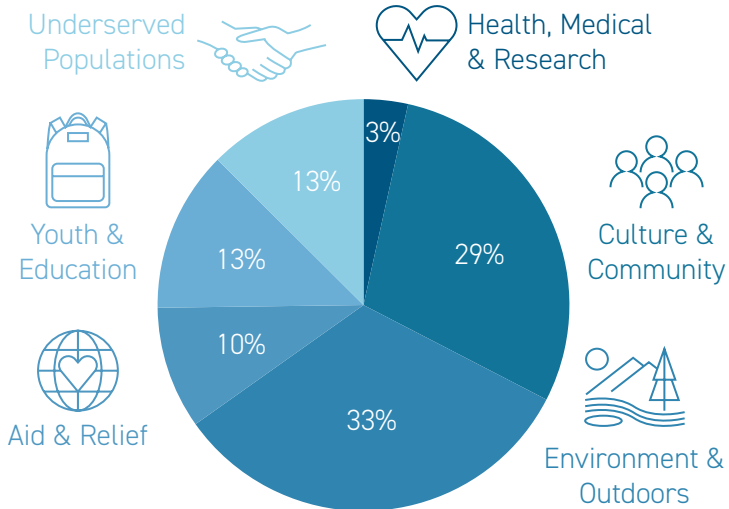

*Poudre Learning Center
Special Olympics
Susan G. Komen
Tennyson Center for Children
Urban Peak
Volunteers for Outdoor Colorado
Weld County Fair
Weld Food Bank
Women's Foundation of Colorado*

Industry employees prepare a meal at Denver Rescue Mission

Areas Our Industry Served in 2017

*I would like to thank you for being so wonderful.
You have added so much value to my education.
As a result of my internships, I have realized that I want to be an engineer.*

*- Bladimir F., Engineering Student,
Martin Luther King Early College, Denver*

Investing in Colorado

Volunteer Work

The majority of our oil and gas member companies in Colorado offer community-based employee incentives like paid time to volunteer for non-profit organizations and matching donation programs.

42,000+

COGA members volunteered more than 42,000 hours to organizations across Colorado

The most impactful volunteer experience for me thus far has been teaching for Junior Achievement in a day for a low income school up in Commerce City. I could feel my impact, I could see the kids looking up at me and dreaming of a better life. My time was really making a difference to those kids.

- Industry employee

Donations

$9,380,413.38

29 members provided their non-profit donation totals for 2017 for an average of $323,463 per member company.

Impacting Lives

In addition to financial donations and volunteer time, COGA members made a tangible impact in local communities by providing specific services and resources to underserved populations throughout the state.

330 bikes built and donated

534 blankets made

COGA members made and donated 534 fleece blankets to veterans, underserved families and patients at Children's Hospital Colorado.

2

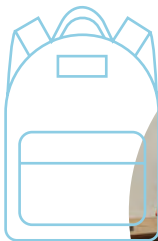

new homes built

COGA members spent more than 3,000 hours to help build two houses with Habitat for Humanity.

683 backpacks packed and donated

600,000+

meals prepared, packaged and served

33,000 lbs

of food donated and/or packaged

705 toys donated

705 toys were donated to programs like Toys for Tots and the Denver Health Toy Drive.

Community Leadership

COGA members are not only contributors, but also leaders in the local communities where they live and work throughout Colorado. Our members serve on more than 100 non-profit boards and have won numerous awards for their service to the community, including:

Muscular Dystrophy
Association Lifetime
Donation Award

HighPoint Resources

Denver Business Journal
2017 Largest Corporate Philanthropists List

QEP Resources

Colorado Women's Chamber
Most Powerful Women in Colorado

PDC Energy

Colorado Business
Committee for the Arts
2017 Philanthropy Award

Noble Energy

American Red Cross
Community Advocate Award

Colorado Oil & Gas Association

Urban Peak 2017 Maverick
Thinker of the Year Award

Anadarko Petroleum Corporation

Boys & Girls Clubs of Metro Denver "Corporate Partner of the Month"

Suncor

Fortune Magazine
"Change the World" List

Waste Management of CO

Top 100 Military
Friendly Employers

Xcel Energy

SRC Energy won Weld
Food Bank's Largest Total Contributor Award for a company with fewer than 100 employees.

As for me, being a part of this board (Special Olympics) has been hugely rewarding. It's been a significant time commitment with meetings, events, and practices almost weekly, but to spend time with the athletes and see the pure joy they get from participating in the various sports and events makes it all worth it.

- Industry Employee

Industry employees at the Bolder Boulder

536 volunteer and charity

events throughout the year

Industry employees engaged in 536 volunteer days or charity events throughout the year.

Pictured to the right is COGA's Courage Classic Cycling Team, which benefits Children's Hospital Colorado Foundation

COGA Mardi Gras Ball

COGA members raised $100,000 for Children's Hospital Colorado in 2017 at their inaugural charity event, Mardi Gras Ball. At COGA's Mardi Gras Ball held on February 16, 2018, members raised more than $332,000 for the Tennyson Center for Children, while also recognizing its Community Impact Award Winners.

The Community Impact Awards were inspired by the goodwill of the oil and gas industry and aim to celebrate those who have best represented the core values of the industry and given the most across our state. Awards are presented annually to an individual, a small company, and a large company within the energy industry that demonstrate significant contribution and service to Colorado communities.

$100,000

donated to Children's Hospital Colorado in 2017

Individual Community Impact Award

2018 Honoree: Terry Peltas, Energes

2017 Honoree: Jan Kulmann, Noble Energy

COLORADO OIL & GAS ASSOCIATION

Mardi Gras Ball

Small Company Community Impact Award

2018 Honoree: Bill Barrett Corporation

2017 Honoree: Bonanza Creek Energy, Inc.

Large Company Community Impact Award

2018 Honoree: Anadarko Petroleum Corporation

2017 Honoree: PDC Energy, Inc.

$332,000

donated to Tennyson Center for Children in 2018

From Our Neighbors

"Cureton Midstream purchased my pig at the Southeast Weld County Fair. I greatly appreciate their support of youth activities in our area. Their support will help me pay my bills for this year and prepare for next year."

- Weld County High School Student

"With help from Xcel Energy, the Lone Tree Arts Center has been able to create an innovative program designed to make the arts accessible to children from a wide variety of backgrounds and cultures. The funding allows us to identify Title I schools, invite them to attend a professional performance, and pay all costs associated with the field trip. For many of these children and schools, this is the only way they can attend. Thanks to Xcel Energy for helping us make a difference!"

- Lisa Rigsby Peterson, Lone Tree Arts Center

"Liberty's volunteers are incredibly committed to supporting Denver's kids and Mile High United Way's Power Lunch Reading Program. The students get so excited when the Liberty volunteers arrive, and it is obvious they are making a positive impact. Liberty volunteers donated over 300 hours of their time in 2017 reading with and mentoring 3rd grade students. We are grateful for your service!"

- Amy Woolridge, Mile High United Way

"Extraction Oil and Gas has brought more awareness to the issue of hunger. Through their donation, many of their partners have joined to make an even bigger impact throughout Weld County and Colorado. We are very proud to have not only Extraction's commitment, but the amazing employees that volunteer their time to help make our community great!"

- Mikaela Sandridge, Weld Food Bank

Great Western Oil and Gas mobilized personnel and material goods with the idea that generosity and kindness is the true spirit of the holidays. It helped us bring a holiday meal and gifts to more than 120 families in need in our community.

- Linda King, Adams County Food Bank

COLORADO
OIL & GAS
ASSOCIATION

1800 Glenarm Place, Suite 1100
Denver, CO 80202
303.861.0362
www.coga.org